Graduation Day: Celebrating Youth Innovation

The Become Busy Xelerator (BBX) journey has reached its most inspiring milestone — the Graduation Day! After months of training, mentoring, and collaboration, young entrepreneurs and youth workers from across Europe came together to celebrate creativity, courage, and transformation.

Hosted in Greece, the event brought together participants from the Green X, Tech X, and Social Xelerators, partner organizations and local stakeholders for an experience filled with energy and inspiration.

Showcasing ideas that matter

Graduates of the BBX programme presented their projects developed through the Xelerator cycle — from green startups and digital innovations to social impact ventures. Each presentation reflected months of teamwork, mentorship, and growth, demonstrating how young people can drive sustainable change through entrepreneurship.

Special recognition went to the top-performing teams from each Xelerator, who impressed the jury with their creativity, impact, and potential for real-world implementation. These projects now serve as examples of how youth-led entrepreneurship can create value for both communities and the environment.

The journey continues...

Throughout the event, participants shared testimonials about their BBX experience on how it helped them build confidence, find mentors, and

turn ideas into action.

The atmosphere was one of shared pride and motivation to continue shaping Europe's future through innovation.

■ While the Graduation Day marks the end of this cycle, it's also a new beginning.

■ The BBX community continues to grow, connecting young entrepreneurs, trainers, and organizations committed to making change happen, across borders and beyond the project.
